Joshua, Act 1, Nos. 2b Matrons and virgins

The same composition of new Tabulae capitulorum shows Bede's dissatisfaction with what was available and the philological study carried out by Meyvaert shows that the nature of these breves, and thus even those of Genesis, have a typological exegesis that is absent in other series; moreover Bede in his tabulae effected a noticeable reduction of the chapters and it does not appear immediately clear what should have been the motive that would have induced the Venerable to substitute according to Meyvaert's theory his own capitalization composed of 38 chapters series F with one of 63 series G giving place to an evident disparity to the successive breves of the Pentateuch present in the CODEX AMIATINUS : Exodus, 18 chapters, Leviticus, 16 chapters, Numbers, 20 chapters, and Deuteronomy, 19 chapters. Between two horses, which doth bear him best; Between two girls, which hath the merriest eye; I have perhaps some shallow spirit of judgement; But in these nice sharp quilllets of the law, Good faith, I am no wiser than a daw.
